

सत्यमेव जयते

प्रधान मंत्री
Prime Minister

MESSAGE

India is richly endowed with biodiversity and is home to a fascinating array of wildlife, including major species like the tiger, lion, elephant and rhinoceros. Our protected areas and other natural ecosystems offer a wide range of tangible as well as intangible benefits.

We are guardians of this treasure and it is our responsibility to protect it for posterity. This could be best achieved by harmonizing our development imperatives with conservation

MESSAGE

India is richly endowed with biodiversity and is home to a fascinating array of wildlife, including major species like the tiger, lion, elephant and rhinoceros. Our protected areas and other natural ecosystems offer a wide range of tangible as well as intangible benefits. We are guardians of this treasure and it is our responsibility to protect it for posterity. This could be best achieved by harmonizing our development imperatives with conservation concerns. It is necessary that all Indians cooperate towards conserving our irreplaceable

Wildlife Week coincides with the birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, the apostle of non-violence. His ideal of non-violence towards all living beings should guide us in our understanding our relationship with wildlife and natural ecosystems offer a wide range of tangible as well as intangible benefits.

Mahatma Gandhi, the apostle of non-violence. His ideal of non-violence towards all living beings should guide us in our understanding our relationship with wildlife and natural ecosystems offer a wide range of tangible as well as intangible benefits.